European Cooperation Network on Critical Infrastructure Protection

Opening conference

Rome, October 20th, 2015

EUCONCIP is a European network aiming at connecting stakeholders in the field of Critical Infrastructure Protection (CIP) and fostering cross-sector and cross-country cooperation. EUCONCIP involves public and private organizations, associations and individuals with expertise in the field of CIP through tailored activities such as working groups, workshops and conferences.

The EUCONCIP Opening Conference will take place in Rome, on October 20th, 2015, and will be focused to the presentation of the main applicable outcomes of ongoing and recently concluded projects on CIP and to the discussion of upcoming opportunities. This event represents a unique opportunity for the CIP community to share experience and to get in touch with relevant end-users in the field.

Stakeholders currently involved in CIP projects or who have successfully concluded them are invited to candidate their projects for presenting main outcomes and ideas, for discussing their applicability and for exploring H2020 opportunities in bilateral meetings. Additionally, a dedicated space for project posters will be available during the entire conference in order to provide enhanced dissemination opportunities
